The city won the Community Pride Award, and one of its citizens, Carol Vegas, was presented with the Citizen of the Year Award.

Steve Seymour showed the quest to capture the District 4 seat on the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

The 32-year-old businessman had to wage three campaigns to capture the Democratic nomination, then keep his momentum going to defeat a Republican and a popular Independent candidate in the Nov. 7 general election.

Some analysts say it helped that Seymour was the son of Wilmer Seymour, who had served the District for the last eight years. Others would argue that he would carry into the race the stigma usually associated with an incumbent.

And, it was a time when voters throughout the state and nation were showing their frustration with the political climate by throwing out incumparticularly

Democrats. Seymour said the decision enter the race for public office "was strictly mine.

A big event this afternoon in the Kiln area is the Tour for Toys, sponsored by the North Hancock Business and Professional Association.

This is a first for this type of venture by the association, and it will be from 1 to 5 p.m.

There are eight homes on the tour from Kiln to Firetower Road.

Proceeds from the tour will go to the association's annual Christmas for the Needy Drive.

Tickets are for a donation of $5 and may be purchased at Lyons Insurance, 255-1188 or 255-1527; D&K Quick Stop, 255-3212; Hattie Harrison, 466-4337; Earlene Korman, 255-6921; and Couch Potato, 255-2555.

We published a map and photos of several of the homes in our Nov. 23 issue of The Echo.

Sounds like it will be an interesting tour, and I am hoping many from the Bay-Waveland area will motor up to Kiln for the big event this afternoon.

Also on tap this afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. will be the Hancock County Public Library System's Holiday Tree Gala Sunday at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, Highway 90, Bay St. Louis.

Featured performers will be The Windsor Chamber Players of New Orleans, who play for Afternoon Tea Wednesday through Sunday at the Windsor Court Hotel in New Orleans. Founded and directed by flutist Patti Adams, the group also includes violinist Valerie Poullette, violist Elizabeth Pulju, cellist Karen Ray and pianist Pam Lagarde.

Also featured will be the Hancock North Central choir under the direction of Robert Green, who will sing from 1:30-2 p.m. and the Bay Senior High choir under the direction of Carol Cline, from 4-4:30 p.m.

More than 40 local businesses, organizations and schools will display trees throughout the library

It is always good to visit our library, and this afternoon appears to offer a very special program for all of our residents.....

As I mentioned in the last column, this is really a very busy season of the year for our area.

In case you missed the Nutcracker ballet last night, you may still have a chance this afternoon for a matinee performance at 2 p.m.

The matinee performance by the Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble will be at the Bay Senior High auditorium on Blue Meadow Road.

Tuesday through Friday of the coming week, each day students from the area schools will come out and sing their favorite songs to entertain the travelers passing through Hancock County at the Welcome Center on Interstate 10.

A great impression is made on motorists when they stop at our Welcome Center and see the many "extras" offered by our citizens.

Our Welcome Center hostesses do a fine job, and remember, that extra support by others really makes us a "class place."

Do not forget to help yourself and local merchants by shopping at home during the holidays.

By Donald Mauffray

VA health care eligibility

By Donald Mauffray, CVSO One of the most difficult issues connected to veterans health care reform is beginning to receive attention. Almost all agree the current eligibility rules for accessing US Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) health care are a maze of confusing and seemingly conflicting regulations.
Several proposals are under consideration by Congress, any of which would impact the number of veterans eligible\for VA health care, and the level of care they would receive.

Proposals have been prepared in the House and Senate Veterans' Affairs committees. The VA Veterans Health Administration is formulating a proposal, and veterans service organization are continuing to advocate for a proposal which they believe will allow health care to be delivered to additional veterans and, at the same time, save taxpayers $2 billion a

Many of the veterans organizations have formed an association called the Partnership for Veterans Health Care Reform to advocate for their position. The Partnership is a coalition made up of the American Legion, AMVETS (American Veterans of WWII, Korea and Vietnam), the Blinded Veterans Association, the Disabled American Veterans, the Jewish War Veterans, the Military Order of the Purple Heart, the Non-Commissioned Officers Association the Paralyzed Veterans of America, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Vietnam Veterans of America. These groups represent memberships of nine million American veterans.

The Partnership believes eligibility reform is crucial if the VA is to remain an efficient provider of health care. Along with enactment of other necessary improvements, eligibility reform would allow the VA to practice modern medicine.

The delivery of private and public sector health care is rapidly changing, and public programs such as Medicare and Medicaid are facing significant cuts. Various state legislatures are moving ahead with their own low cost health plans:

The Partnership believes these changes, particularly those in Medicare and Medicaid, will cause veterans who do not currently use the VA health care system to turn to the VA as they are financially excluded from other private and public health care systems.

The Partnership believes expanded health care eligibility. is the route which should be taken. Treating more patients more efficiently is in the interests of both the VA and the veterans population.

However, the VA must be allowed to retain reimbursements from third party insurers, including Medicare reimbursements, insurance payments and veterans' copayments. Unlike other health care providers, the VA is allowed to collect these revenues but must turn them over to the US Treasury. In other words, the VA is allowed to provide the health care service, but is not allowed to keep the funds necessary to provide the service. Under the Partnership's plan, Congress would make VA health care accounts nonreimbursed for the care provided.

Let's all hope the Partnership succeeds in tis endeavors.

Proposed roadway safety legislation announced

Proposed legislation that its sponsor believes could save many lives on Mississippi roadways has been announced by the Mississippi Association of Highway Safety Leaders (MAHSL). It includes:

• Lowering the legal definition for driving under the influence (DUI) from .10 percent blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of alcohol or another drug to .08 for adult drivers and permitting zero tolerance for drivers under the age of 21.

Studies by the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning indicate that drivers who have a BAC well below .08 percent often are impaired to the point that they can cause serious motor vehicle crashes. Each year approximately 350 Mississippians die in alcohol-related motor vehicle crashes.

• Strengthening safety belt legislation to a primary law, which would allow law enforcement officers to issue citations to the driver if any person in the vehicle is not using a safety belt or child protective device without first charging this individual with another offense.

Currently, it's a secondary law which requires a driver to before he or she can be issued a safety belt citation. Of the persons killed last year in motor vehicle crashes, 83.6 percent of the drivers, 76.3 percent of the front-seat passengers and 74 percent of back-seat passengers were not using occupant protection devices. Public Safety Planning has indicated that approximately 50 percent of these individuals could have been saved by these devices.

• Requiring children passengers through age 10 to be buckled into safety devices. In a crash, children not in a child safety seat or other protective device can be thrown into the vehicle's windshield, steering wheel, doors, dashboard, or interior surfaces or out of the vehicle onto surfaces such as the pavement.

· Making it illegal for any person to have an alcoholic beverage open in any motor vehicle at any time on public property. It is a well documented fact that alcohol consumption and motor vehicles can be a deadly combination.

• Closing the loophole in the DUI law that allows a felony DUI offender, after serving time in prison, to appear as a first offender on his or her driving record if arrested again. Currently, Mississippi can have a hard core of repeat offenders seriously jeopardizing the safety of other motorists as well as their own.

 Closing other loopholes that are presenting problems such as vague definitions of DUI refusals, reduction of a DUI refusal to a lesser charge and suspension of jail time for • Revising wording of man-datory blood alcohol testing references and sections dealing with vehicle forfeiture for the third DUI offense.

 Providing for mandatory holding time after a suspect is arrested for a DUI offense.

 Prohibiting passengers under the age of 12 from riding in unenclosed cargo storage areas of pick-up trucks or trailers.

• Permitting administrative driver's license revocation to allow a law enforcement officer to immediately confiscate the driver's license of a driver who is found to have a .10 or greater BAC or who refuses to submit to a BAC test.

The driver then loses his or her license for a set period, regardless of the court disposition.

· Giving authority to all sheriffs departments and municibe charged with another offense to palities to operate radar in their jurisdictions and to the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol for operating radar on state and federal highways in all municipalities.

Speed is a contributin in more than one-third of all fatal crashes, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Yet, law enforcement is seriously hampered in enforcing speeding Donald O'Cain, governor's representative for highway safety and Public Safety Planning's exécutive director, noted that "the proposed legislation could save hundreds of lives. The Mississippi Legislature shares our concern for roadway safety, but it's extremely important that legislators know of their constituents' concerns. I urge all citizens to let their legislative representatives know how strongly you feel about roadway safety.

Rodger Moore, executive director of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), said that "as I hear mothers across our state describe how their sons and daughters were killed by drunk drivers, I also hear them pleading for help . . . help to make the roadways of Mississippi safer to prevent other mothers from enduring this needless tragedy. The MAHSL proposed legislation could make this happen.'

Senate budget bill fuels hopes of diesel boat owners

Thousands of long-suffering owners of diesel-powered recreational boats, who have been forced by short-sighted government regulations to hunt for fuel, will find some good news in the budget bill recently approved by the U.S. Senate. The Senate budget bill would suspend the existing 24.4 cents per gallon federal tax on diesel fuel for nearly 14 months, from Jan. 1, 1996 through Feb. 28, 1997, and require the Treasury Department to study new collection options that are less burdensome to recreational boaters.

The diesel provisions were pushed by Sens. John Chafee (R-RI) and John Breaux (D-LA), approved by Finance Committee Chairman Bill Roth (R-DE), and supported by both BOAT/ U.S. and NMMA

The legislation is necessary to correct a significant distribution problem caused by the government when it began to add dye to diesel fuel in January, 1994 to distinguish between that which is for commercial boats (red and tax-free) and that which is for recreational boats (clear and taxed).

The problem is that many fuel retailers only have one diesel tank and pump. All around the country, from Maine to Alaska, fuel retailers nearlarge commercial fishing fleets have chosen to sell only red, non-taxed diesel fuel.

This has forced many recreational boat owners to travel many additional hours or go significantly out of their way to obtain fuel legitimately.

BOAT/U.S. has heard from a number of diesel boat owners that their safety was jeopardized because they could not obtain fuel during bad weather.

Fuel retailers and marinas have also complained that they have lost a significant amount of business because the government has, in effect, forced them to choose between selling to recreational or to commercial boaters.

Diesel boat owners are not yet out of the weather, however. The House budget bill does not include any similar provision, and the President has threatened to veto the Republican budget bill if it is approved in its present form.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial From Mississippi Económic Council

Democracy has just scored a critical victory over Bureaucracy in America, the victory coming in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C.

At issue was the free speech protection of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

The Bureaucracy had denied First Amendment rights to a business group. The Court of Appeals overturned the decision by the bureaucrats.

Two years ago the Federal Election Commission limited the right of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to communicate on political issues with its members. The Commission declared that membership organizations could communicate only with members who met one of three These tests: "Significant"

The ruling, the U.S. Chamber successfully argued, left hundreds of thousands of members arbitrarily excluded from the Chamber's political

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Macy's huge parade was still a distant blip in the future, as were the accompanying Thanksgiving turkey and trimmings. Worse, one of recent history's all-time heat waves was still oppressing the entire country well into August.

In this setting, I walked into one of the biggest discount stores. Christmas trees? That's right. You must have seen them yourself in the course of your shopping explorations. A skeptical, sour, almost depressing feeling settled over me.

Somehow, this was the ghost of Wall Street past and the specter of Madison Avenue present hovering over the cash registers of tens of thousands of businesses big and small. Awakened, the registers were beginning their run of the year.

Ah, it was clearly the annual rerun of unadulterated, good old capitalism at its greed incentive worst: taking the most high God, taking the dizziest heights of spiritual reality, and prostituting them with the profits of earthly wares.

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas," is a joke passed off as a carol which says what is blatantly false: the gaudy tinsel and hum of business looks a lot like Christmas, as long as Santa, reindeer and tons of gifts are in evidence.

This typifies the famous "Christmas spirit" which so many people strive eagerly to acquire at the approach of each Christmas. The holiday ambience of color, light, sound and teasing gewgaws are calculated to create Christmas spirit.

Bah! Humbag! That is not remotely reflective of the very core of Christmas which had nothing to do with tinsel or with the hustle and bustle of a marketplace giddy with the glee of huge turnovers of merchandise and whining cash registers.

The most powerful name

The reality of Christmas is the incredible choice of poverty and servitude by the Supreme Being who made everything out of nothing and without whom was made nothing that has been made. Paul reminds us each vear:

"Christ Jesus, who, though he was in the form of God, did not regard equality with God something to be grasped. Rather, he emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in human likeness, and found human in appearance" (Phil. 2:5-7)

In the wake of this breathtaking text, surveys by money moguls indicate the average person will be spending from 16 to 20 dollars for gifts this Christmas, down some $20. For them, this is the biggest news each Christmas season.

Radio talk show statistics affords a glimmer of hope that the general populace is finally beginning to overdose on the nauseating sellout of Christmas. Grousing, disgruntled callers are complaining that Christmas is no longer a season.

Further, many call in, objecting to the general focus on gifts which reflect nothing more than an insatiable appetite for material things. "Put Jesus back in Christmas!"

Wholesalers, retailers, investors, bankers and brokers are laughing all the way to the bank at this time of year, but the one who laughs last is he who gave up everything as God that we human being might someday have all his riches.

His name is so powerful that it causes billions of lights to go on each Christmas. In spite of themselves and their material drives, people in the marketplace bow before him.

Jesus, that most powerful name, raises us up above all the. nonsense, commercial and otherwise, which afflicts us.

COOKING UP STORM

Katy McGuire Caire

Chicken

Chicken, a favorite food all around the world, is tasty however you cook it or sauce it. There are many elaborate recipes, of course, but some of the best-liked are often on the simple and easy side.

A simply broiled or baked or sauteed chicken, or breast or other chicken pieces, accented with fresh lemon slices and juice, along with fresh parsley of my favorites. And, a dish which I often make, equally at home at your everyday table or "company dinner" is:

BAKED CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOMS

2-lb. chicken quartered 2 Tblsp. olive oil (or salad oil if you prefer)

Pepper, salt to your taste Juice of 1 large or 2 small cloves of garlic

Juice of half a lemon 1/2 to 1 cup fresh mushrooms. sliced, sauteed in butter (or 1 small can of mushrooms, stems and pieces or slices) 1 cup sherry

Mix together the oil, pepper, salt, garlic and lemon juice. Let stand for 5 or 10 minutes to blend the flavors, then rub well into the chicken quarters. Place the seasoned chicken in a baking pan, and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then lower the heat to 350 degrees and bake for 15 minutes more.

Poems wanted

Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum is offering a grand prize of $500 in its new "Distinguished Poet Awards" poetry contest. Thirtyfour other cash awards are also being offered. The contest is = free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. Contest closes Jan. 31, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible.

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc., De st. N, 203 Diamond St., Sistersville, WV 26175.

Card of Thanks

Robbie and Todd Sharp would like to THANK YOU for your support, dedication and commitment to the 11- and 12-year-old cheer-leaders during the 1995 football season.

Thank you, From Parents and Cheerleaders If the chicken starts to seem to be drying out, add a half cup of the sherry and half of the sauteed mushrooms.

At the end of the 15 minutes, add the remaining half cup of wine, along with the mushrooms and their liquid. If you're using the fresh mushrooms (which I prefer) you may have to add a bit of broth or water. Cook for 15 to 25 minutes reand hints of tarragon, is one of a danger fore untile adone. (4"

If you've any leftover chicken, quickly stir up another dish: Cut-up a few tomatoes, or use-canned tomatoes. Saute chopped onions, bell pepper and celery in a bit of oil, add tomatoes and let it all come almost to a boil, to reduce the liquid somewhat. Add slices and pieces of the cooked chicken and simmer the mixture together just a few minutes until sauce thickens. Ladle over fettucini and dust the whole business thickly with Romano or Parmesan cheese.

If you still have any of this dish left over, dump the mixture into a small, heavy skillet, toss in a few chunks of good, sharp Cheddar cheese, and cook it to a crusty turn — then clean up the encrusted messy skillet! (Copyright, 1995, Katy McGuire Caire)

Picayune missed a last second shot to send the game into overtime with the score remaining 47-47. SSC scored the first six points of overtime before Picayune gave the Rocks another scare. Vandell McGill scored on a layup and Daniel Kennedy nailed a three-pointer to bring the Marcon Tide within a point at 53-52.

Brian Thigpen intercepted a pass and was fouled. He went to the line with two shots and failed to connect on both giving Picayune one last shot to win. Picavune got the shot off before the buzzer and the ball bounced off the front of the rim preserving a Rock victory.

Coach Jay Ladner com-mented, "We were fortunate to win tonight. It seemed like at any time we were going to break the game wide open.

. "Picayune made some key adjustments at halftime and came out smoking in the third period. We lost our composure. They ran a Diamond and one defense, the same thing that Gulfport ran on us. We will have to get better at playing against that defense because we will see alot more of that before the season is over."

"Picayune is one of the premier teams in our district and we were just fortunate to win. It was ugly but we won.

Lawyer led the Rocks with 18 points, six boards, and five steals. Kelton Thompson added 12 points while Matt Kopfler tallied 10 points for the Rocks. Vandell McGill led the Tide with 14 points and Ryan Carroll tallied 13 points. Judd Burkes finished with 10 points. The Rocks improve to 8-1

"A Christmas Carol," a play written by Martha B. King, is based on Charles Dickens' book of the same name. First published in 1843, "Christmas Carol" is one of the most famous stories ever written.

In the book, three ghosts show the old miser Ebenezer Scrooge his past, present and future. Scrooge realizes that he has been living a life of greed, and he changes into a warm and unselfish person.

What are DRIPs and how can they carson be a part of my financial plan?

Q. I am interested in getting some information on DRIPs. I know some companies offer , low-cost investment plan that them and they can reduce commissions on stock purchases. Can you give me some information on how to get started using

A. First of all, be sure you understand how dividend reinvestment plans (DRIPs) work and how the particular company you are considering handles its DRIP. A DRIP allows stockholders to reinvest stock dividends by purchasing additional shares directly from the corporation.

The individual plans vary. Most charge no fee or nominal commission fees for purchasing through the DRIP. Fees for seeling stock vary from plan to plan. Some plans allow partial reinvestment of dividends.

In addition to dividend reinvestment, most companies allow optional cash payments (OCP) for purchasing even more shares. Some allow these voluntary cash payments to be as small as $10. Some allow OCP even if the investor receives all dividend income.

The pricing and timing of stock purchases varies. Some only purchase stocks for DRIP participants quarterly, around the dividend payment date. stock price discounts ranging from three to ten percent off current market prices. Contact the investor relations department of the company to get a copy of the DRIP prospectus.

How do you get started? In order to enroll in a DRIP you must be a shareholder of record. In other words, you must own some shares in the company in your name first. Thus, in most cases, you must purchase your initial shares through a brokerage firm.

The National Association of Investment Clubs (NAIC) has a allows you to buy your initial share of stock for $5 plus the current share price. There are over 140 companies on the NAIC plan. Investment club members and individual NAIC members can use this service. Contact NAIC by phone at (810) 583-6242 or by fax at (810) 583-4880.

Dividends and DRIP discounts are both taxable in the year received. Though DRIP participants receive 1099 forms from the company at the end of the year, you should understand record keeping requirements for tax purposes. Consult your tax advisor regarding taxation of your DRIP account before you get started.

Q. How many companies offer DRIPs and how do I find out which ones do?

A. According to Charles B. Carlson, CFA, editor of Dow Theory Forecats and author of Buying Stocks Without A Broker, there are about 900 companies that offer DRIPs. Check your local public library for a directory of companies offering DRIPs. However, companies are adding and abolishing DRIP programs all the time.

If there is a particular company you would like to invest in, contact the company and ask if they have a program.

Q. Are there some stocks that are better for DRIPs?

A. Obviously DRIPs don't work for speculative investment instruments. They are appropriate for long-term investments in wellestablished, financially sound companies. Just because a company offers a DRIP doesn't mean it is an appropriate stock

Timing the market is an elusive goal

A tested Wall Street axiom says that time in the market is much more important then timing the market. In other words, staying put pays off.

Do-it-yourself investors often spend a lot of time trying to decide when the stock market is too high or too low, and timing the purchase and sale of investments accordingly. However, recent figures compiled by the Pioneer group, an international group of money managers, show how staying out of the market can cost you money.

For the 10 years ending in 1994, investors who would have continuously held all the stocks in the Standard & Poor's 500 Index would have earned an average annual gain of 14.4 percent. If they had spent that time buying and selling, trying to time the market's highs and lows, they wouldn't have done

For example, if they had missed the 12 best months, their average return to the state of the sta their average return would have dropped to 3.8 percent. Even m ssing only the five best months would have cut their return in half (see chart). The stock market does not move in a regular or predictable pattern. While the market's long-term direction historically has been up, this movement has come in concentrated spurts and no one has yet perfected a way to determine when these spurts will happen. As the study shows, being out of the market for only limited periods of time can seriously limit your

On the other hand, staying in the market for the long term can substantially enhance your results. Pick any five-year period in stock market history, and you'll have difficulty finding one in which the market fell. In fact, the market has increased in 89 percent of all five-year periods.

If you stayed in the market for any 10-year period in its history, changes are 97 percent that your investment would have increased. Even through short-term losses during the Great Depression, long-term investors made substantial gains. The stock market offers no guarantees, If it did, however, having the patience to stay in would be part of the formula. I'm proud people had enough confidence in me to elect me to represent District 4, and I think all the people will be proud about what this board will accomplish in the next four years," Seymour said.

Seymour was the only rural candidate in the field of three Democrats running in the Aug. 8 primary. The three others were from Bay St. Louis. They included: Harry J. Favre, who served on the Bay St. Louis City Council from 1977 to 1984; Harold (Willie) Gavney, a county building inspector; and businessman Thomas (Tom) Williams.

"I waged a very personal campaign," Seymour said. He went door-to-door, introducing himself to the voters in his district, and hearing about their

When the votes were counted election night, Seymour led the pack with 466 votes, but not enough to win outright.

After affidavit absentee ballots were counted, Favre made it into the Aug. 29 runoff election by a three-vote margin, but Williams challenged the final

Without a hearing and even though Williams asked for a delay because his attorney was out of town, the Democratic Executive Committee threw out William's charges of voter irregularity, and put Seymour and Favre on the ballot for the runoff election. In the runoff, Seymour beat Favre handily by a margin of 502-382, and he braced to do battle with Republican Joey G. Manieri, a popular realtor, and Independent candidate T.H.(Doc) Toups, publisher of the monthly Hancock Reporter magazine, in the Nov. 7th general election.

But Seymour's victory was hours sweet when he learned that Williams would go to Chancery Court and demand a special election.

Seymour continued making the rounds to voters and speaking at candidate's forums, but he would have another hurdle to face before the general election.

On Oct. 18, just a few weeks before the general election, Williams got a hearing before Election Commissioners and a special Judge appointed to hear election disputes.

After nine hours of testimony, a toss of a coin decided that Seymour would face Willims in a special election Halloween, Oct. 31, to decide the Democratic nominee.

Willimas was elated. Seymour was shocked.

"It was an extra step I had to take to get where I wanted to go," said Seymour. I had to keep focused on the general election"

Luckily, the voters were not turned off by the unexpected turn of events, and turned out in inclimate weather to give Seymour the boost he needed. A heavier-than-expected turnout gave Seymour 611 votes and

Williams, 241. Seven days later, Seymour overwhelmed his two opponents in the Nov.7 general election. Final tabulations gave Seymour 1,009 votes to 474 for Manieri, the Republican and 228 for Toups, the independent candidate. Now, with four elections behind him, Seymour said he is looking forward to "working with a great group of young businessmen who have a broad view of what needs to be done."

Seymour said he plans to be open-minded, and do what's best for the people, not just for my district.

County supervisors are paid $29,100 yearly, but Seymour plans to keep his job with Alcan. But, I will be accessible to the people I represent,"he Improving county roads and drainage are a top priority, Seymour said. He also favors establishing building and zoning codes countywide. His district includes an area of Shoreline Park which the county soon intends to link with a sewage system. "We want to get that job done before we start on any kind of road improvements there, whether it will be gravel or blacktopped," said Seymour. "We need to get a good road base before we start."

Semour shares the views of other supervisors who think the county's economic future lies with Port Bienville and the Stennis Airport.

We've got everything there is to offer at the Port," Seymour said. "We've got the water, the rail system, and the space."

He said he will work with other supervisors to lure more industry into Hancock County, and more business activity into Stennis. "We need to promote the airport a lot more," Seymour said. During the campaign, Seymour also found himself in the midst of a controversy brewing between residents of Harbor Drive, who complained to county supervisors, then staged a picket demonstration.

They were protesting plans by Joey Boudin to establish a maintenance yard for his garbage trucks on a 10-acre site he owns on Harbor Drive. Boudin has the contract to pick up garbage througout the county.

Seymour went to the area when residents were walking the picket line on Saturday afternoon, along with candidates Toups and Manieri.

Boudin's lucarative contract comes up next March, and Boudin said he will try to convince "whoever gets the award to keep any kind of washing or maintenance station out of any neighborhood and put it in a central location."

Seymour said he also wants to work with Bay St. Louis and Waveland to keep the cities and its beaches cleaner.

He said he favors a countyfinanced marina, which has been proposed for the foot of Pleasure street in Waveland.

He said he wants to know how the marina would affect try in Bayou Caddy.
"The key to it is that we don't want to force out the seafood people who are paying taxes now," said Seymour.

Seymour sees no problems working with his fellow supervisors, and is looking forward to taking his seat on the important board next January.

"We all share common goals," said Seymour. I think we can work together as a group for the overall good of Hancock County. "I look forward to the challenge.'

and Shanks had steered the health care agency through its stage of greatest growth on the Coast.

"We were surprised as anyone Shanks'resignation),"said

"We learned about it when her attorney handed us her let-ter of resignation," Sr.Milner

Shanks gave no reason for her decision to resign, saying in her letter of resignation, "At this point, my head and conscience lead me away from the Center, but my thoughts and prayers will always be with you." Since then, Coastal's Director of Dental Services, its Risk Management Director and the Reimbursements Manager, have turned in their notices.

Endt, who is being paid the same salary as Shanks while he oversees the agency's operations, said as soon as he was appointed, he met with the staff's 100-plus employees because, "there was a good bit of concern about job security around nere.

"Nobody has been fired. Everybody's getting a paycheck," he said. He said Coastal is beginning to fill the vacated positions. Another priority, Endt said, will be to hire a new Executive Director." He said the position would be advertised nationally, and estimated the search would "take about six months."

He and Sr. Milner are "reworking the job description." Coastal is funded by a $3 million annual grant from the U.S. Public Health Service, and Endt said that agency has offered to help recruiting

The federal grant is supplemented by another $4 million which Coastal collects from federal Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements, and from charging patients sliding fees based on their incomes. Milner said Coastal will be looking into landing more federal grants to supplement its revenues.

"We really need to look into the possibility of hiring a grant writer," she said. "We haven't actually persued the avenues that are available."

She said there are numerous grants available for treating patients diagnosed with HIV, and other diseases. Procedures for applying for various grants and notification when funds are available are outlined in the Federal Register, Milner said.

has established a clearing house to keep agencies posted on state and federal grants that become available. Endt and Milner said the new executive director must also work to create stronger ties with area hospitals. "The doctors have to realize that if we can't keep up with the increasing case loads, these same patients will have an impact on their emergency rooms," said Milner. Coastal Family Health Center has been in operation since 1978 in Harrison County, then expanded to provide services in Hancock and Jackson Counties. Since 1990, the Center has experienced a 67% increase in patients, said Milner. Coastal now serves over 27,000 patients in the three-county area, but she estimates there are over 84,000 who are at or below poverty level, and could qualify for the services. Because of budget restraints, Coastal was forced to close its clinic in Hancock County at the end of September, and a decision is still pending on whether. to reopen it. It had operated here since 1987, and at the time it closed, was treating about," 2,500 patients .

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has offered Coastal free use of the vacated, old Health Department Building on Dunbar Avenue, plus an annual $10,000 donation, and a committee is looking into the

A sticking point seems to be finding a fulltime physician to handle the estimated 2,500 Hancock County poor and indigent who might seek medical attention.

In the meantime, county residents, from as far away as Pearlington, are having to go to Coastal's three clinics opened in Gulfport, and some are using a mobile unit that is available on a rotating basis in rural areas of Pass Christian, Endt said.

Endt said he has cultivated-"a good relationship" with Don Henderson, administrator of Hancock Medical Center, and doctors there have offered backup support in the event a physician is hired and the clinic is reopened.

Coastal had estimated it would cost $500,000 a year to reopen in Hancock County with one fulltime doctor and nurse. Coastal has also had to substantially raise salaries to keep physicians and nurses on staff. It once had a staff of 15 physicians, and is now operating with eight.

The competition is coming from agencies that recruit physicians nationwide, but also from local groups, such as the Medical Foundation of South Mississippi, another non-profit established by the Board and Staff of Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

"When you lose a physician, it substantially affects the (reimbursement) fees you generate,' explained Sr. Milner.

Dr. Jeff Reynolds, Coastal's Director of Dental Services will leave Jan. 29 to practice in Amite, La., and Milner said the agency needs to move quickly to fill the vacancy, and to hire an additional dentist.

"Preventive dental care is critical,' said Milner. "Failure to treat early problems can lead to ear infections and other more serious illness.' Endt and Sr. Milner both seemed confident that Coastal will weather the current crisis, and continue to provide basic health care to the needy in the three-county area.

BACKACHE.

The little pain that lasts and lasts.

PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF ACTION.
IN FLOODPLAIN
TOWN OF WAVELAND
POST OFFICE BOX 320
WAVELAND, MISSISSIPPI 39576

DECEMBER 3, 1995

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

The Town of Waveland, Mississippi has decided to undertake the following project with Community Development Block Grant funds from the Mississippi Department of Economic and Continuinty Development: Installation of water and sewer facilities in an area north of Highway 90.

A portion of the project is located in the floodplain; but there is no practicable alternative to this location as explained therein:

explained herein: ALTERNATIVE SITES In order to accomplish the goals of Waveland's Community Development Block Grant programt, the project must take place as indicated on the project map (on file at Town Hall) and therefore no alternative sites exist. ALTERNATIVE ACTIONS

ALTERNATIVE ACTIONS

The alternative action considered by Waveland was to relocate the improvements that are within the floodpain. However, it was determined that regardless of where the improvements are made within the project area some will have to be undertaken within the 100-year ligodolain to accomplish the goals of Waveland's Community Development Block Grant program. Based on these considerations, Waveland has determined that no practicable alternative action exists to locating the proposed improvements within the 100-year floodplain.

100-year floodplain. NO ACTION ALTERNATIVE NO ACTION ALTERNATIVE
During the course of its evaluation, Waveland considered the No Action Akernative or not implementing the proposed project. This, however, was considered an impracticable alternative for the following reasons: 1). The project with have no adverse impact on the 100-year floodclain; and 2) as it has been determined that the lack of water and sewer facilities, is, a threat to the health and safety of the project area residents and this project must be implemented.

Additional information including a more detailed project description and a floodplain map are on file at Town Hall and are available for public inspection, weekdays between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and five o'clock interested persons are invited to submit comments concerning this decision to the Town of Waveland, c/o Mayor John C. IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Unfortunately the Diamondhead County Club was supposed to be 'the place' for our 25th Anniversary Celebration, but due to the fire, the holiday party was Nov. 30 at the Days.

There was food sampling, a golf fashion show, merchants displays with prizes, music, entertainment and Santa

HAPPENINGS

Traditional "Stone Soup" was the Thanksgiving order of the day for all children at Diamondhead Academy. The children brought in money they earned to send a check to the Salvation Army for a Thanksgiving dinner for less fortunate families. Tis the season for thinking about and helping others.

will be there, Saturday, Dec. 9 at 5:30 p.m. for the children young and old. The yacht club will be serving hot dogs, etc. on the viewing deck, along with dinners and such inside, as everyone enjoys the beautifully lighted and decorated boats passing by. Please contact C. B. Blanchflowers at 255-5343 for details.

CHRISTMAS POT-LUCK

A big celebration

Tuesday, Dec. 5 at 6 p.m. members of the Diamondhead AARP will meet at Diamondhead Community Church for a holiday get-together. Call Lorraine Alvarez at 255-1918 for

The Christmas Twilight Tour of Homes will be Sunday, Dec. 10, 5-8 p.m. Tickets with maps may be purchased that evening at the community center.

dried or other natural material

Don't forget the new date of the Dec. meeting and Christmas luncheon is Wednesday, Dec. 13, 11 a.m. Please bring your favorite covered dish to share, a plant to exchange, and a $5 donation for Hope Haven.

BAY CHORALE

Those heavenly voices of the Bay Area Chorale have changed their name to the Coast Chorale. A tentative schedule of events includes a performance of Handel's Messiah with the Jefferson Symphony Chorus, several spring performances of John Rutters' Magnificat and the annual Christmas concert at Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.

BOB SONGY

"Meaningful Messages" will be given by our own Bob Songy, artist extraordinaire, with a premiere showing of his works Dec. 1 and 2 and a gala reception open to the public 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 3 at the Diamondhead Yacht Club.

Some series of Bob's art has been donated to the Barataria Terrebonne National Estuary Foundation, a four-million-acre wildlife system in Louisiana.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE Were there no God, we would be in this glorious world with grateful hearts and no one to thank. Praise be .

Have a beautiful week.

Nursing/Wellness Center one step closer at PRCC

A new Nursing and Wellness Center at Pearl River Community College is a step closer as the college's board of trustees approved the December advertisement of construction bids.

"We have been waiting for this for a long time," said President Ted Alexander. "If we advertise in December, we can open bids in January.

The 48,677 square foot building will house offices for the Associate Degree Nursing faculty and administration, several large classrooms, lab facilities and a Wellness Center.

The PRCC board approved the sale of $1.6 million of Educational Facilities Notes, Series 1995, to Duncan Williams Inc. during its October meeting.

The notes and other construction costs will be repaid with additional millage from all six counties within PRCC's district and with money from state bond funds, as well as private contributions through the college's Development Foundation.

Increased county millage for this specific project was approved in 1994 and 1995. Participating counties were Forrest, Marion, Hancock, Jefferson Davis, Lamar and Pearl Estimated cost of the facility is expected to be over $3 million. Ron Holmes, PRCC's business manager, said all money is in place and has been earmarked for the project. The building should be ready for the 1997 spring semester.

In other action, the PRCC

- welcomed Sonny Knight of Poplarville as a new board member, who will represent Pearl River County.

-heard a report on the development of an Advanced Technology Training Center on the Hattiesburg campus. - accepted the retirement resignations of Dr. Mary Peddicord, Elizabeth Alsworth, Charles Rester and Roy Jones. Peddicord is chair of the English Department, and Alsworth has taught world civilization for the past 32 years.

Rester has headed the masonry department since 1976, and Jones has been in charge of the automotive mechanics program for more than 40 years.

55-Alive driving course

NorthShore Regional Medical Center has joined with the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) to present a 55 Alive/Mature Driving Course to the community aged 55 and older. Developed by AARP, the course helps the older driver improve driving skills and prevent traffic accidents.

Subjects covered during the course include age-related physical and emotional changes, effects of medication, rules of the road, and common problems such as driving long distances.

The course is presented in two four-hour segments over a two-day period. Those who complete the course will receive a certificate which, when presented to their insurance company, may result in a reduction of up to 10 percent in their premiums. Only those who attend both sessions will receive a certificate. Cost of the entire course is $8 per person.

The course will be presented at the NorthShore Regional Medica: Center campus in the Clinic I! Building at 105 Medical Center Drive in Room 303 on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 7 and 8 from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Enrollment is limited.
